U. S. Would Admit Israel Into U. N.

America Approves Admission

Negev Action Draws Fire

PARIS—(INS)—The United States opposed detachment of the Negev from Israel without Jewish consent today and formally recommended the new state's entry in the United Nations.

U.S. Delegate Dr. Philip C. Jessup told the Political committee that America supports the "basic principles" of the Bernadotte plan for recognition of Israel and partition of Palestine.

President Truman already has recognized the new state. Dr. Jessop expressed the hope that the U.N. Security council will recommend Israel's admission to the 58-nation world body "in the near future."

Dr. Jessup said:

"The United States looks forward to admission of Israel to the U.N. and its active participation in our work.

With regard to the Bernadotte proposal, Jessup said that it contains seven basic premises and added:

"My delegation supports the general principles contained in these basic premises."

Jessup said that the U.S. does not accept all particulars of a British resolution calling for swift action to bring about partition as provided in the last plan submitted by U.N. negotiator Count Folke Bernadotte before his assassination.

This would award the southern Negev desert area to the Arabs.

He added that American amendments will be introduced.

Jessup said:

"The U.S. has approved the claims of Israel to boundaries set forth in the Nov. 29, 1947 Palestine partition plan and considers that modifications thereof should be made only if fully acceptable.

UP TO ISRAEL

"This means that reductions of such territory should be agreed to by Israel.

"If Israel desires additions it would be necessary for Israel to offer an appropriate exchange through negotiations."

Regarding Count Bernadotte's proposal to make Jerusalem an international city, Dr. Jessup continued:

"We accept this premise and will wish to discuss later some detailed problems involved."

The U.S. delegate endorsed Bernadotte's first premise, meaning cessation of hostilities, and the second —recognition that a Jewish state exists.

On the third premise—dealing with boundaries—the spokesman said he favors a further agreement between the interested parties rather than a U.N. attempt to draw specific frontiers at present. He said:

"We are inclined to view that a conciliation commission should undertake a further effort to bring about settlement of boundary questions."

Strike Hits Ocean Queen

SOUTHAMPTON, — (INS) — Sailing of the giant British liner Queen Elizabeth was postponed today because of the longshoremen's strike in the United States.

Hundreds of crewmen protested departure of the luxury vessel, some expressing fears of being "beaten up" by American dockstrikers. Officials decided the ship could not sail before 1 p.m. tomorrow.

Meanwhile, negotiations to end the paralyzing east coast dock strike resume today with increased prospects for a settlement of the 11-day-old walkout.

Settlement hopes rose after the strikers, all members of the International Longshoremen's association, AFL, cut in half their demand for a 50-cents-an-hour wage increase.

Hot Issue Arises

PORTLAND, Ore.—(AP)—One of the hottest issues before the CIO explodes into the open today—the question of punishing left-wing CIO councils that refuse to follow CIO policies. The CIO executive board meets to act in the case of the Greater New York Industrial Union council, accused of thwarting CIO policy and aiding "enemies of labor."

AFL Seeks Marshall's Dismissal

Would Oust State Figure

CINCINNATI — (UP) — The AFL' 67th convention today prepared new moves in what one high official said has become a full scale offensive to get Secretary of State George C. Marshall out of President Truman's cabinet.

On another front, the AFL Executive council recommended establishment of a super lobby to get the new Congress to push through laws favored by organized labor.

The convention ploughed into its sixth consecutive full-day session in high anticipation of the visit late today of Vice President-elect Alben W. Barkley. Barkley is expected to get an earful on the AFL's views on Marshall and domestic legislation even though his visit is scheduled to be brief.

AFL sources said they respect Marshall as a soldier and fully support his aid plan for Europe. But the labor leaders, who have played a big part in administration of the plan abroad, are dissatisfied with Marshall's handling of Russia and China, and with some phases of military government administrations in Japan and Germany.

One official said the AFL hopes Marshall will be replaced by W. Averell Harriman, ambassador in Paris for the European Aid program. AFL President William Green said he personally favors such a change. Others believe it could come by next Jan. 20 when Mr. Truman begins his new term even though the president has just said he wants Marshall to remain.

Harriman was given one of the most enthusiastic receptions of this convention when he spoke yesterday. It was outranked only by the demonstration for Mayor Hubert H. Humphrey of Minneapolis, Democratic senator-elect.

Humphrey urged an assistant secretary of state from organized labor "to get some new ideas" in Marshall's department.

Grounds Wet, OSU Fans All Hepped Up

COLUMBUS — (AP) — The ground is wet, the temperature is in the middle 40's, and there's a southwest wind. That's the weather for this afternoon's Big Nine football game between the University of Michigan and Ohio State.

Weatherman George Mindling said if anything it would be a little colder by game time but the wind might not be so bad.

FIREMAN WINS SUIT

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Fireman James E. Taylor won $3,688.96 overtime pay yesterday in a test suit against the city, involving firemen's claims which may run more than $2,000,000. At issue was whether the 48-hour week applied to firemen.

Election Cost Tops $14,650

Believed Record In County

The Nov. 2 election cost Richland county $14,650, bills so far approved by the county election board, show.

The cost will run higher than that, Board Clerk Thomas R. Zeigler said that some bills have not yet been presented to the board.

While cost figures for previous elections were not immediately available, it was believed the cost of the last election when finally computed will be the highest on record here.

Highest cost was an expenditure of $7,703 for precinct workers in the 97 precincts in the county. Actually, there were 101 boards as four Mansfield precincts had double boards to handle the voting.

Party and judicial ballots cost $3,585 while the questions and issues ballots cost $1,407.

Other bills approved by the board include $486 for rentals of polling places, $883 for poll books, $261 for legal advertising, $72 for hauling, and $49 for printing instructions and letters.

Extra help for making the count at the board offices and for taking care of hauling equipment to booths cost $201.

Explains 'The Others'

Hardy Answers For McFarland

Ralph M. Hardy, chairman of the Richland county Republican Executive committee, today explained who "the others" are

"The others" came to public attention Thursday when a check of election board records revealed that Earl A McFarland, former Mansfield mayor and GOP leader, had contributed $2,118 to the party's campaign fund This was more than half of the GOP expenditure of $4,129

The $2,118 contribution was listed as coming from Earl A McFarland "and others" When questioned about who the others were, McFarland replied brusquely: "Just keep on wondering."

This morning, Hardy made the list of contributors available for newsmen's inspection, explaining that the names were kept secret "because between 90% and 95% were city, state, and federal employes whose jobs might be imperiled if it were known they had contributed."

Hardy said that in all 67 gifts were included in McFarland's contribution and that besides the job holders there were several very substantial gifts from businessmen who preferred not to reveal their identity.

"McFarland did the collecting for us," Hardy explained. "It is a job he has done for many years, and done well. He is our financial secretary."

Hardy explained further that a number of persons had contributed to both the Republican and Democratic campaigns and that to reveal their names might cause embarrassment.

FIRST PAY—Pvt. Robert M. Wheeler of 41 Ridgewood boulevard, member of the 164th Fighter Squadron of the Air National Guard, receives his first pay check from Capt. William O. Ash, commanding officer of the squadron. Wheeler was the first of 275 officers and enlisted men who got their first checks at Mansfield airport last night.

More Than $5,000 Distributed

Air Guardsmen Get First Pay Checks

Two hundred and 75 officers and enlisted men in the 164th Fighter Squadron of the Air National Guard last night received their first pay checks as members of the new unit in Mansfield. Checks were issued at the airport.

The total payroll was more than $5,000, according to Capt. William O. Ash, commanding officer of the squadron The pay checks were for the period beginning June 20 and ending the last of August. The air guardsmen will receive their pay checks every quarter from now on, Capt. Ash said.

Pvt. Robert M. Wheeler was the first man to receive his check. Wheeler was one of the first men to enlist in the squadron. He enlisted June 20, the day on which the group was officially organized and received federal recognition.

Capt. Ash said construction work on the $1,000,000 military installation at the airport would be started as early next spring as the weather permits.

The project, first of its kind in the United States, will include an administration building, hangar, shops, warehouse building, parking area, and a central heating plant.

INCLUDES 6 UNITS

Six ultra-modern buildings will occupy 23 acres of ground at the airport when the installation is completed.

Ash said there are still 76 vacancies in the organization. Men 17 to 35 years old, either veterans or non-veterans, may enlist in the squadron, he said. Ash added that men who are 17 to 18½ years of age and who enlist in the Air National Guard will be exempt from the draft.

The deadline for completing enlistments in the 164th squadron is Jan. 1, Ash said. The squadron has started its training program.

'Big Inch' Blows Up

13 Treated For Burns

SEYMOUR, IND., — (AP — "Big Inch" pipeline erupted into a tower of flaming natural gas visible for miles last night, injuring 16 persons and destroying 14 cars and trucks and several small buildings.

The line broke just before 6 p. m. (CST at the Reddington pumping station eight miles northeast of here. A second blast occurred an hour and half later, sending another column of fire into air near the first.

About 30 men in the enclosure housing the pumping station fled to safety when the flames first shot up. Sixteen were treated for burns, but only three were kept in Schneck Memorial hospital here. Their condition was not believed serious.

Fire-fighting equipment and ambulances from Seymour, Flat Rock and Columbus, Ind., rushed to the scene but the intense heat prevented their approaching the fire for more than two hours.

State police said both blasts were in the "Big Inch" line, which is paralleled by the "Little Inch."

The fires were brought under control about four hours after the blast.

RULES DEATH SUICIDE

EATON — (AP) Preble county Coroner G W Flory today returned a tentative verdict of suicide but continued his investigation of the death of Clyde Rodgers, a farmer.

Accused Poisoner Acquitted

Jury Frees Girl's Mother

CINCINNATI —(AP)—Acquitted of a charge that she poisoned her 11-year-old daughter, Mrs. Mary Clay Watts is free to return to her home in suburban Norwood.

Prosecutor Carson Hoy said last night no effort will be made to prosecute the blue-eyed, 43-year-old Mrs Watts in the death of her husband, Willis Watts, in 1944.

A criminal court jury of nine women and three men deliberated slightly more than two hours late yesterday before acquitting Mrs. Watts of a charge of first degree murder in the death of her daughter, Barbara Ann.

The state had charged she administered poisons which caused the child's death.

After Barbara Ann's death last May 15, her father's body was exhumed at Winchester, Ky., and poison was found in his system.

Mrs. Watts never was charged with his death but evidence concerning it was admitted at her trial. At the completion of the trial last night Prosecutor Hoy said, "That evidence (concerning Mr. Watts) was heard.

We presented our best case and we don't propose to present a poorer one."

The end of the 12-day trial saw Mrs. Watts composed and dry-eyed although she had wept during part of Defense Attorney Loyal S. Martin's closing argument.

As she left the courtroom she said, "Thank God, I'm an innocent woman." She broke down once and then wept on Mr. Martin's shoulder, saying, "If I only had my baby."

At her request, Mrs. Watts was taken back to jail after the jury's verdict—but only to gather her belongings and say goodbye to acquaintances.

"I was innocent when I came and innocent when I left," she said.

The state charged Mrs. Watts gave Barbara Ann poison in order to inherit an $11,000 estate and insurance. The defense contended the poison found in the child's body came from treatments she received for an illness.

Troops Take French Port

PARIS, —(UP)—French troops and mobile guards today seized the waterfront of historic Dunkerque, which had been held by 1,500 communist-led strikers for 72 hours.

Most of the strikers had crept away from their barricades under cover of darkness after 3,000 colonial troops and guards massed to oust them. The liberators of the port where 16 ships bringing U. S. aid to France were strikebound, made a number of arrests but there was no violence.

Several hundred workers and fishermen watched silently while the troops and guards moved through the port installations in an hour beginning at dawn. They destroyed the barricades blocking the entrance to the docks as well as those within the installations.

The action at the port where the Allied armies were saved from the Nazis in 1940 dramatized the government policy of getting tough with the communist strikes. Premier Henri Queuille had staked the life of his cabinet on the policy in a confidence vote set for Tuesday.

Witness Opposes Erie-River Canal

PITTSBURGH - (UP) — The proposed Lake Erie and Ohio river canal would virtually wipe out several small Ohio communities and force thousands of persons to leave their homes, it was testified at an army board of engineers hearing here. Charles Porter, superintendent of schools in Austinburg, O., said small towns would be "wiped out" and "thousands would be left homeless" if their homes and property were condemned to make way for the canal.

Rescue Crews Rush to Aid Of Snowbound

(By United Press)

At least nine persons were dead and scores were marooned in snowbound houses and cars today in the aftermath of a big storm that swept across the Great Plains from the Pacific coast.

Hundreds of rescue crews worked to free trains and buses stuck in snowbanks while others fought through drifts to reach people trapped on the highways or in homes and schoolhouses.

Temperatures hovered near zero in the storm area. The coldest spot was Chadron, Neb., where the mercury was exactly zero. Dickinson, N. D., and Sidney, Neb., reported six degrees above, Minor, N. D., seven above, and Akron, Colo., eight above.

The dead included an unidentified middle-aged man found frozen near Springfield, Colo.; a man and wife killed in a crash on a slick highway near Montrose, Colo.; three men who died in a snowstorm in the mountains of Washington state; two men killed instantly in a headon automobile crash on an icy pavement near Willmar, Minn., and a farmer electrocuted in Louisiana when he touched a live wire blown down by strong winds set up in the South by the midwestern storm.

Storm Hits Richland Rural Area

Farm Buildings Damaged By Wind

Thirty-nine-mile-an-hour winds during a freak thunderstorm last night caused wind damage in the northern part of the county.

J. G. Mentzer, who lives on State Route 314, three miles north of U. S. Route 30-N, reported the wind tore off a portion of the roof of his residence and a barn. He said several trees in the vicinity were uprooted and small chicken houses in the vicinity were blown over by the high winds that hit the area about 10 p. m. yesterday.

As the freak late fall thunderstorm hit, the mercury dived eight degrees in an hour, from 58 at 10:30 p. m. to 50 at 11:30 p. m. By noon today it had plummeted to 39.

The weatherman said today would be cloudy, windy, becoming colder with a few brief snow flurries or showers. Tomorrow, he said, would be cloudy and rather cold.

The cold weather that came to Ohio today was, in part, the result of the fierce storms that raged further west, but which lost their intensity before reaching Ohio.

3,324 Phone N-J to Get Game Result

Six hoarse News-Journal telephone operators offer mute testimony today that football is the prime topic of conversation among Mansfielders.

An estimated 3,000 fans followed "their" Tygers to Martins Ferry last night but the interest didn't end there. The stay-at-homes could not be without news of the Senior high footballers. The six N-J operators handled, by actual count, 3,324 calls from 8 until 11:30 p. m.

Possibly a thousand more were choked off by busy lines

The phone business doubled that of election night.

Some impatient fans called a half-hour before the game started asking, "How did the Tygers come out tonight?" As most readers know by now the final score was Martin's Ferry 6, Mansfield 0.

Twenty passengers marooned on a Denver-bound Greyhound bus near Colby, Kans., made their way to a home at the town of Grain Field, four miles from where the bus stalled, Nelson said. All were in good condition despite being stranded in the bus for 36 hours.

PUPILS MAROONED

At Delmont, S. D., snow plows were fighting to reach a country school where 20 children were marooned. Their bus stalled at the storm's height, forcing them to remain at the school.

The Santa Fe's crack California Limited steamed into Cimarron, Kans., 22 hours late. Winds that hit 70 miles an hour had stalled the train in a mountainous drift between Cimarron and Dodge City.

Literally thousands of automobiles littered midwestern highways. About 50 cars were stuck between Sioux Falls and Mitchell, S. D. Thousands of head of cattle and sheep died in the storm. Stockmen estimated that 1,000 sheep were lost in the area around Oakley, Kans., alone.

At Dodge City, Kans., the snowy-white countryside was lighted weirdly throughout the night by the flares and torches of rescue parties picking their way through drifts in search of lost motorists. Nearly every family in town had a refugee as a guest.

Slim Hensley, Continental bus lines driver, was hailed as a hero for battling through the blizzard to a farm home to get help for his 21 passengers when the bus stalled. The passengers were so grateful they took up a collection for Hensley's wife who is expecting a baby.

Police Solve Sex Killing

OSSIPEE, N. H. —(INS)— Police claimed today the solving of the Ruth Eisenberg murder mystery.

They brought a 48-year-old Rochester woodsman and convicted sex criminal to Ossipee for arraignment on a charge of "suspicion of homicide."

The suspect, Ralph E. Jennings, who has a criminal record dating back to 1911, denied emphatically any knowledge of the strangling of the pretty 23 year-old Newark, N. J., nurse and the burial of her body in a woodland sawdust pit last summer.

Gifts Rival Royal Baby's

Americans Open Hearts to British Baby

By GERALDINE HILL

LONDON—(UP)—"We don't live in a house - it's a hut. What ever are we going to do with all these things?"

The young cockney mother's eyes brimmed with happy tears as she spoke.

She was Mrs. Maud Philp, whose baby was born in an east end maternity hospital at almost the same moment last Sunday that Princess Elizabeth gave birth at Buckingham Palace to a prince who some day almost certainly will be king.

The United Press carried a dispatch reporting the birth of Mrs. Philp's daughter, named Elizabeth in honor of the princess, as counterpoint to its reporting of the royal birth.

The result was a flood of gifts from sympathizers in the United States. And it was to this that Mrs. Philp referred today as she wept with joy and then worried, woman-like, about what she and her bus conductor husband, Henry, would do with all the gifts.

Presents already promised range from a complete bedroom set including a $1,000 crib, two $500 chests, lamps and curtains, to 100 toys and a 20-year supply of candy for Mrs. Philp's little daughter.

The Philps live in a three-room hut in one of the poorest and most-blitzed areas of London. Henry earns only about $22 a week as a bus conductor, and they saved their money penny by penny to pay for the arrival of Elizabeth, their second child

"Now we'll be able to have a lot more babies," Mrs. Philp said. "We never dreamed people could be so kind."

She sighed almost dreamily.

"Think of it," she said, referring to the gift of free diaper service made by an American corporation, "no more diapers to wash."

Henry Philp grinned broadly as he stood beside the bed in the maternity ward, holding his wife's hand.

"When's Princess Elizabeth going to have her next?" he asked.

Search Party Rescues Young Bride, Saves Her Honeymoon

JUNCTION, Utah (AP) A mountain-wire rescue party broke through 19 miles of snowdrifts yesterday to save a Los Angeles bride marooned without food in a deserted mountain cabin.

As a result, Mr and Mrs. Richard Giovanazzi resumed their honeymoon here today after two days of battling sub-zero weather when their car stalled on a little-used road high in the mountains west of here.

Sheriff Carl G. Beebe who led the rescue party said his party of five horsemen found Mrs. Giovanazzi huddled beside a tiny fire in a deserted sawmill cabin.

"She sure was glad to see us," the sheriff said.

She and her husband became stalled in snowdrifts Wednesday afternoon as they were attempting a "shortcut" on their trip home. The "shortcut" proved to be a steep, winding road leading from Junction to Beaver, Utah. Their car plunged into deep snow and they were unable to move it.

After one night in the car, and a day spent in vain efforts to move the vehicle, the two located the sawmill and spent Thursday night there.

Friday morning Giovanazzi left for Junction, and hiked the 19 miles, through drifts up to two feet deep, by mid-afternoon. Sheriff Beebe organized the rescue party immediately.

Auto Makers Eye Backlog

Orders Call For 7 Million

DETROIT—(AP)—One of the car industry's biggest intangibles is its unfilled order list.

If the claims of only a few of the sales chiefs of the various companies are reasonably correct the backlog now calls for more than 7,000,000 cars.

But there is something unreal about that total. Some industry authorities say it has more "water" in it than is apparent on the surface. Still others say it is loaded with duplications. Nearly every car maker agrees it would vanish over night should anything cut into public buying power.

The car makers themselves are not putting too much reliance on the backlog. Without exception they are developing their merchandising divisions as though the competitive era were close at hand.

Probably the order backlog is loaded with duplications; many of the new cars that reach the used car lots come through duplicated orders. And probably if deliveries are delayed long enough most of the duplicated orders will become real.

But whatever may be the true picture of the order backlog most industry chroniclers agree the present market could not instantly absorb 7,000,000 more new automobiles were it possible for the manufacturers to offer immediate delivery of that number.

Vets' 'Kitty' At 2 Billion

Unofficial estimates have put the sum at approximately $2,000 000, 000. Postponement of the announc ment will not delay payments of the rebates, the spokesman emphasized. No checks are expected to go out in any case befoe late next year.

Newsman Would Settle for Ham!

Truman's Turkey Deserves Bitter Fate

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— If you are worried about the Truman's Thanksgiving dinner, here is the low down.

As of now, their turkey (weight 35 pounds, bust and hip measurements unknown) is getting a round middle and a fat behind. And if the President knew how much trouble the bird has caused, he'd be sorry about the whole thing and probably order duck.

As a stunt, Oregon turkey growers decided they would send the first family a fine bird for Thanksgiving. They let the word get out. United Airlines, which has one eye on the beam and the other on promotion, quick got hold of their Washington man—Ted Kellogg.

Ted, being a good little former reporter, rang up Senator Guy Cordon Mr Cordon wasn't home. Ted, who doesn't stand much higher himself than a turkey (even in elevator shoes) continued to be a good newsman He called Wayne Morse, the junior senator from Oregon

Mr. Morse was willing. Fact, he went out to the airport to meet the bird. The bird bit him on the nose and likewise snapped at a lot of other people

Our Ted stood in the background and said a few things under his breath no press agent ought to say. To his credit, no law suits were filed.

The United Airlines man ruffled a few feathers on his own time. He tucked that big bird under his wing and took it home.

But his company didn't much care for the corn and other turkey food he put on his expense account. The Sens Cordon and Morse paid even less attention After all a turkey doesn't vote.

Ted was getting himself in a mess as home. His wife, Lillian, was raising the dickens. She's a little one who doesn't weigh much more than a turkey herself. She made more noise than one.

The health department also started to take a dim view of the goings on in the garage of the Kellogs, the man came around, in fact

He demanded that the turkey be removed Ted called Dr William Mann, the head of the Washington zoo, and said he had a dandy. Dr. Mann said he had all the turkeys he would handle at the moment He suggested that Ted clip the wings of the big bird and turn him loose.

Ted did nothing of the kind He took the gobble-gobble guy out to a gobble farm and asked the man to keep on fattening for a few days

Mrs. Kellog isn't very happy.

She likes turkey.

Ted isn't happy, either.

If there's one thing he never wants to see again — it's another turkey

For Thanksgiving, Ted'll have, if you don't mind, a slice of ham. With mustard.

TROUBLE MAKER—Gift of self-described Republicans in Oregon, a large turkey for the President is held on its arrival in Washington by Oregon Sen. Wayne Morse, as airlines hostess Bobbie Bailey looks on. The turkey was sent, said the Republicans, as a reminder that they're not mad because the President forced them to eat crow on election day.—(International)

Pupils Call Off Strike

AKRON—(AP)—Although still at odds with their superintendent, striking pupils at nearby Twinsburg high school promised today to resume classes Monday.

Leaders of the four-day walkout issued a statement saying "we are returning to classes with the understanding that if and when it is found possible to replace our present superintendent (Glen Powell) it will be done."

The statement added "the lack of cooperation shown by Mr. Powell in the past is to be discontinued for the remainder of his administration."

Involved in the strike are about 100 of the school's 160 pupils. They claim Powell had a "negative" approach to athletics and discouraged extra-curricular activities. Powell was not immediately available for comment on the students' statement issued following a meeting last night.

Woman Shoots Father-In-Law

DAYTON — (UP) — Stanley Jackson, 48, was in critical condition at Miami Valley hospital today with two bullet wounds suffered last night while trying to force his way into the suburban Moraine city home of his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Dorsey Jackson, 24.

Deputy sheriffs said Mrs. Jackson shot her father-in-law with a .38 caliber pistol when he tried to gain entrance by battering through the door with a 60-pound boulder.

Sheriff's Deputy Edward Hample said no charges would be filed against Mrs. Jackson since it was "a clear case of self-protection." If Jackson recovers, however, charges will be filed against him for breaking a peace bond, Hample added.

British Informed of Extra Rations for Holiday Season

LONDON. — (UP — Minister of Food John Strachey has announced that there would be extra rations of sugar, tea and sweets for the British this Christmas.

But he said there would be 500 fewer tons of turkeys because none were being imported from the Argentine.

Terming them "Christmas bonuses," Strachey set the following rations:

1. An extra two ounces of sweets. Since the ration already has been increased from 12 ounces to one pound, effective Dec 5, the total ration for the Christmas period will be one pound, two ounces.

2. An extra half pound of sugar. The ration already has been increased from eight to 10 ounces per week, effective Dec. 5.

3. An extra quarter pound of tea.

Strachey said there would be no increases in carcass meat or fat rations Raisins also will be missing from the British Christmas table.

The tonnage of ducks, geese and chickens, he said, would be increased from 5,500 last year to 8,000 tons this year.

The food minister said a double allotment of meat would be given to manufacturers and general butchers during the week beginning Dec 12. In order that extra supplies of sausages and traditional meat pies would be in shops for Christmas

He revealed that up to 380,000 cass of Russian salmon and crab would be traded for British tin plate.

Herndon's Story Told In New Book

The anniversary this week of the Gettysburg address by Abraham Lincoln, makes the non viction volume, "Lincoln's Herndon" a particularly appropriate book among the new arrivals at the Mansfield Public library.

Written by David Donald, its story of Herndon, Lincoln's friend, law partner and biographer, makes clear to present-day readers just how much the country owes to Herndon for his human, every-day treatment of the great American statesman and president.

On the fiction list is another of Lloyd Douglas' tine novels based on Biblical history. It is 'The Big Fisherman", a story of Peter and his friends in the time of Christ.

Others on the fiction list are: THE YOUNG LIONS, by Irwin Shaw, is a war novel of unusual merit. Covering the years from 1938 through 1945, it deals with the European theatre including the German as well as the Allied side of the war.

KISSING KIN, by Elswyth Thane, follows THE LIGHT HEART in series dealing with the Sprague of Virginia. It can, however, stand alone as a novel of the first World War. The time is 1916-1919 and the story revolves around an army hospital established in an English country house. Brief episodes bring the characters up to 1934

Other Fiction:

HUSBAND WHO RAN AWAY, by Dolson; D. A. TAKES A CHANCE, by Gardner; IN COLD BLOOD, by Stein.

Non-Fiction:

LITTLE ANNIE OAKLEY AND OTHER RUGGED PEOPLE, by Stewart Holbrook, is a collection of sketches about more or less famous characters in American history. They include, in addition to Annie Oakley, Calamity Jane, Buffalo Bill, Keit Carson, Ethan Allan and others. There are also stories about western logging scenes, outlaws, miners, and a host of others. This is entertaining, well written Americana.

THE UNPREJUDICED PALATE, by Angelo M. Pelligrini, includes reminiscenses of childhood in Italy, adolescent immigration to America, and oblique references to the present as a university professor It is interspersed with original and traditional recipes of practical value to the imaginative cook. Pelligrini has no time for clubs, taverns, or movies. His garden and cellar provide him with the means to set distinguished cookery before his friends and family.

Horoscope

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, November 21

SUNDAY'S horoscope holds augury of particular success and pleasure in connection with advancement, expanding plans and aspirations, with promotion, recognition for honest work and sound ambitions; also tokens of appreciation and favor from those in influential positions. All such things move to high goals in a career, but even this could be negatived or withheld by social errors, mistaken judgment, or by suspicion and jealousy. Keep watchful of social, romantic and cultural moods and temperament.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are urged to keep alert to the social, romantic and personal angles of any ambitious plans or projects, since every ambitious developments in business, professional, financial or property interests could be complicated by some false gesture, social error or other blunder. The prospects are excellent for advancement, preferment and tokens of esteem, but suspicion, jealousy, arrogance could undermine fondest hopes.

A child-born on this day is richly endowed with talents and ambition for reaching high goals and recognition, but a disposition toward suspicion, enmity, arrogance or false pride could nullify its position and personal happiness.

Walter White Says:

Handling of U. N. Proposal 'Inept'

What is evil or wrong about a "peace offensive"? Every pundit and pollster in the United States shrank in horror from President Truman's proposal to send Chief Justice Vinson to Moscow during October to talk with Stalin. But on November 2nd these same superbrains learned to their amazement that a great many voters thought it wasn't such a bad idea to try every possible means of averting atomic warfare.

Now our Secretary of State bluntly characterizes the proposal of Messrs. Trygve Lie and Herbert Evatt, secretary general and president respectively of the United Nations General assembly, as one which will play into the hands of the Soviet propaganda machine as further basis for a peace offensive.

One leading American newspaper has labeled the Lie-Evatt idea as not being a "helpful suggestion." Another followed the current negative policy of the United States delegation to the General assembly by labeling the proposal as one which is worthless because it does not enable the United States to put Russia on the spot. Even General Marshall blasts the Lie-Evatt suggestion as "peace propaganda" which should be spurned with scorn and celerity.

Certainly Russia's policy with respect to Berlin has been stubborn, selfish and frequently stupid. It is nevertheless imperative that the United States evolve a policy to match the Russian strategy and, even more necessary, take a moral leadership.

We have permitted ourselves as a nation to be outsmarted and outmaneuvered repeatedly by Russia at Paris. Russian criticism and British blandishment recently caused the United States delegation to take a position with repect to colonies which hands the Soviet Union another propaganda club to use against the democracies.

LIE—EVATT PROPOSAL

Now comes the singularly inept and unfortunate characterization by General Marshall of the Lie-Evatt proposal. Their suggestion is admittedly an imperfect one. But terrified by the potential disaster of an interminable impasse over the Berlin blockade which may explode into war, the people of the United States want every avenue of action explored and utilized which can be used with honor.

It appears quite certain now that General Marshall's military training and pattern of thinking are such as to offer less and less hope of a solution under his leadership as Secretary of State.

Mr. Marshall is frequently reported as wishing to retire. It is hereby suggested that his wishes be granted and that a nonmilitary statesman whose mental orientation is more attuned to the contemporary scene be chosen by President Truman as secretary of world-wide repercussion if this is done during the meeting of the U. N. General Assembly. But the effect will be infinitely less disastrous in the long run if a man or woman is selected who can cope with the wiles and threats of Vishinsky, Molotov and Stalin.

I suggest for consideration Mrs. Roosevelt or James Carey of the CIO who have demonstrated repeatedly that they can be as tough and at the same time as realistically adaptable as is necessary to handle difficult characters like Vishinsky, Molotov and Stalin. Our own record at Paris and in subsequent meetings of the U. N. on such issues as colonialism, human rights and genocide as well as atomic energy, disarmament and the Berlin crisis will be more enlightened and effective.

Rites Honor Song Writer

The order of worship arranged by the National Federation of Music clubs and the Hymn Society of America, in commemoration of the anniversary of the death of Isaac Watts, English hymn writer, will be used by Rev. David N. Roller for the morning service at the First Presbyterian church tomorrow.

In planning the service, Rev. Roller complied with the request of the Mansfield Music Study club that some mention at least of Watts' anniversary, which occurs Thanksgiving day, be made by Mansfield pastors.

The order of service suggests five hymns for congregational singing and "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross" for a choir number. The hymns include a hymn of praise, "From all that Dwell Below the Skies"; a hymn of Old Testament prophecy, "Jesus Shall Reign"; one of New Testament Fulfillment, "Joy to the World"; a hymn of faith, "Come, We That Love the Lord"; and a hymn of trust, "Our God, Our Help in Ages Past."

These Watts hymns will intersperse suggested responses and scripture readings by the pastor.

In addition to the singing of Watts' hymns, Rev. Roller will preach on the theme, "The Story of the Great Hymns."

Claims Strikers 'Mad As Hell'

AKRON—(AP)—Negotiations between union and company officials last night failed to end a two-day unauthorized walkout of 750 Firestone Tire & Rubber company workers. The walkout has idled some 2,300 employes. I. H. Watson, president of Firestone Local No. 7 of the CIO United Rubber Workers, said the strikers were "mad as hell" over a new piecework rate system.

For Greater Government Efficiency

THE FINDINGS of the Hoover Commission are now being tabulated and released for publication. Its work is regarded as of primary importance.

The six Democrats and six Republicans who have worked with Chairman Herbert Hoover were chosen by President Truman, Speaker of the House Martin and Senator Vandenberg, presiding officer of the Senate. The fact that they were well selected to work together is proved by the fact that the chairman reports that so far all decisions have been unanimous.

They have recommended that the depleted labor department be restored to its former strength as to functions and as to personnel. On the other hand, the commission believes that the post office department would benefit by pruning and reorganization.

The group considers the post office service to be good and efficient, but is certain that a change in the method of hiring employes would lower costs and increase efficiency. Hiring, the commission believes, should be done on the basis of merit alone and should be in charge of the department itself. This would do away with the system of political appointments of postmasters.

Such positions have traditionally been political plums. Fitness for the job has been placed secondary to faithful political service. It will be interesting to watch the effect of submission of proposed changes to the next Congress.

Forum Discussion of 'Comic Books'

SOME GOOD may come out of the present show of interest in the subject of so-called "comic books," some of which are regarded as exerting a bad influence upon impressionable children who have access to them.

Discussions such as have been held in Parent-Teacher groups, and talks given at the forum meeting of Mansfield mothers within the week, serve the purpose of enlightening more people in this community on a matter to which many have heretofore given little thought.

An illuminating sidelight on the subject was given by one of the speakers, Arthur L. Glattke, superintendent of the Ohio State Reformatory, who mentioned that a recent survey had disclosed that crime, sex, anti-social behavior, sadistic acts and un-Americanism were depicted in some comic books and some newspaper comic strips.

Suggestion that choice of children's reading matter be left to parents seems to ignore the fact that objectionable books, pamphlets and pictures sometimes become accessible to children without knowledge of their parents.

While the objection to "pressure groups," as voiced by Rev. David N. Roller, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, is understandable, it should not be overlooked that organized effort is required for any worthwhile accomplishment, and that it is customarily the interest developed in a small group that later extends to community betterment.

Floyd Dent, Boy Scout commissioner, another of the forum speakers, impressed the idea that parents should gain greater knowledge of various comic books before attempting to decide which were suitable for their children—and that an explanation should be given children rather than merely forbidding reading of comic books found to be objectionable.

Reminder by Rev. John G. Gensel, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, that "it is adults who set the pattern of the town," was timely, in its application to other phases of community life, as well as in discussion of the comic book situation, and, all in all, that afternoon forum seems to have served a good purpose in arousing greater public interest in a subject which will probably prove to be a continuing problem.

When City Officials Ignore the Law

AN INDICATION of what can be done, in case municipal officials are neglectful in law enforcement, comes from New Philadelphia, where Sheriff John Blake has warned all public places in Tuscarawas county to get rid of their slot machines and all other forms of gambling.

The action was taken by the sheriff after Prosecuting Attorney Vernon Lee reported that he found more than fifty gambling devices in operation in New Philadelphia, Dover, Uhrichsville, Dennison and Newcomerstown.

And, note this, the prosecutor told the sheriff he was "unable to conceive how these machines can operate without the tacit consent of enforcement officials."

Ordinarily, as a matter of courtesy, county law enforcement officials adopt a "hands off" policy toward matters of nonfeasance of municipal officials within the county, but their jurisdiction is co-extensive with the county they serve and there is no appearance of justification for ignoring open violations of law in cities and towns located within the county.

Public Funds Provided By Taxpayers

AN INCREASE in the real estate tax rate in Mansfield to $21 per $1,000 valuation is a natural consequence of various bond issues that have been approved by voters, and even the extra costs heretofore sanctioned leave many things undone in the way of needed municipal improvements.

With the rapid jump in property valuations, and with inclination of the tax rates to climb even further, a quite general reappraisal of real estate in city and county might serve the purpose of increasing tax revenues in a more equable way than by successive rate raises.

How much more discouraging these shortening days must have been to primitive man, when, for all he knew, the days might keep on getting shorter until they ended in permanent night, and warm weather might never reappear!

Claude Callan advises: "Don't worry because you can't have luxuries for playthings. Necessities are just as much fun and you are not so likely to hurt yourself with them."

The most recent labor dispute has to do with when a musician is a musician and when he isn't—a highly controversial point, to say the least.

Discovery that whisky can be made of sawdust gives the drunk a strong argument when he feels like "tearing down the house."

'Expert' Speech-Writers Losing Favor

OF ALL the after-thoughts on the election, the one which probably carries the most validity is that Truman's speeches won more converts than did Dewey's. The underlying reason for this should be pondered by all statesmen, would-be statesmen and young people who hope to be statesmen.

The ghost-written speech has reached a stage of refinement where it either must be greatly improved or go out of business completely.

The great common sense of the public has decreed it, and this popular judgment is a wholesome thing for us all.

For many years it has been a growing practice for public men to depend on more or less expert help in preparing speeches. Only men like T. R. and Woodrow Wilson tailored their own utterances.

This was possible because long before they became national figures they were professional writers. Moreover, T. R. and Wilson were both speakers who, on occasion, could talk directly and without manuscript.

In recent years—especially in the F. D. R. era—the practice of elaborate speech preparation was accepted as a matter of course in politics in business and in many other fields. No moral stigma was attached to a man's reading a speech largely prepared by others.

The demands upon men's time, their unfamiliarity with literary expression and the danger of factual errors seemed to require such expert help.

The practice was so cynically accepted by "ghosts" that speeches were dashed off in mass production without even a thought of the person who might deliver them.

The late Charles Michelson, working for the Democratic national committee, would write a speech first and decide later which senator or cabinet member would have the chore of delivering it. The result was hardly inspiring, but it filled radio time and it sufficed to keep party spirit alive.

* * *

Became Common Practice.

BEGINNING with the campaign of 1936, the successive Republican candidates elaborately developed the practice of multiple assistance in preparing campaign speeches.

Such organized speech-writing reached its dizzy climax in the campaign just concluded. A very considerable staff was assembled which accompanied the candidate on his travels.

There were experts for nearly every pertinent issue—labor, agriculture, finance, foreign affairs, etc., etc. There was a specialist on idealistic and religious homilies. There were clerks and stenographers. Speeches were subjected to round-table discussion and revision.

And the result was that too many cooks produced a broth which had no savor. Certainly the speeches did not represent the true Dewey personality, which came out splendidly in Oregon in May when, fortunately, he was far from a brain trust and had to talk straight from his mind and conscience.

Al Smith's practice of talking from a few notes on the back of an envelope was best. The "ghost" must reform himself or pass into thin air.

Washington Calling

Battle of the Services

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—Like the flow of lava from a bottomless volcano, the flood of personal reminiscences about the war continues. Far from abating, it promises to grow in volume.

The personal story of Marine Corps Lt. Gen. Holland M. Smith, now appearing serially, has stirred a hornet's nest of controversy. Smith revives the dispute over the conduct of the battle for Saipan when he removed the Army command.

To answer the Marine Corps version of the battle, Secretary of Army Kenneth Royall opened secret files. The Army defends its commander at Saipan, Maj. Gen. Ralph Smith, pointing to two official judgments upholding the Army Smith over the Marine Corps Smith.

Plainly here is another place where unification has worked not at all. This battle of the memoirs has in fact caused Secretary of Defense James Forrestal a lot of work.

For weeks prior to publication, the Holland Smith story stirred a mimic warfare in the Pentagon. Aware of the storm it would stir, Forrestal seriously considered ways and means of censoring the memoir. Smith is on the retired list.

What he came up against, however, is a major discrepancy between the services in this matter. A long standing Army regulation provides that anything written by an officer, whether retired or not, must be submitted for approval.

Thus Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, whose story of the allied command in the battle for Europe is also appearing serially, submitted his manuscript to the department for clearance. So have all other Army officers writing for publication.

But Navy and Air Force have no such regulation covering retired officers. So there was nothing Forrestal could do about the Holland (nickname: Howling Mad) Smith story.

* * *

Supplying the Demand.

DISCUSSING the implications of censorship both with officers and with civilians, Forrestal has contemplated an over-all rule applying to the three services. To restrict one and not the others is clearly unfair.

Whether the kind of censorship aimed at eliminating frictions between services and between allies is permissible in peace time is the question troubling the secretary of defense. The reading public does not distinguish between retired officers and those on active duty. Sensational articles by retired air officers are mistaken for official policy.

It is a troublesome business and bound to cause unhappiness until it is resolved at the top.

So long as the market remains good for this kind of personal narrative, so long will the principals be eager to tell all or nearly all.

Several principals are still to be heard from. Gen. Omar N. Bradley has tentatively begun his story of the European war, but he will be unable to publish until his four years tour of duty as chief of staff is ended.

Admiral Ernest King, chief of naval operations throughout the global conflict, has not yet given us his version nor has Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of staff to Roosevelt and Truman and a participant in every high-level conference.

Charles Bohlen, counsellor of the state department, is the only living American who knows exactly what Roosevelt and Stalin said to each other at Teheran and Yalta since he was interpreter for the President. Some time ago a magazine offered him a large sum for his story, but fortunately Bohlen, just about the ablest career officer in the department, said no.

Labor Leaders Demand T-H Law Repeal

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

LABOR, which played so vital a role in the upset at the polls, is training its sights on what the new Democratic 81st Congress will do about the controversial Taft-Hartley Law.

At the American Federation of Labor's 67th annual convention in Cincinnati, President William Green said, "We are not vindictive (but) . . . our new object is to defeat any member of Congress who votes against repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act."

Secretary of Labor Tobin, whom President Truman appointed shortly before the election, told 650 cheering AFL delegates that the law would be repealed and Democratic platform pledges to labor would be fulfilled within 30 days after the new Congress meets.

Tobin predicted a "fair and just" substitute for the Taft-Hartley law would be enacted by March 1.

CIO Convenes in Portland.

The Taft-Hartley law is certain to be a peak topic at the CIO convention which opens Monday in Portland, Ore.

But 15 Senate Democrats will have to reverse their previous stands if they back the President's demand for wiping Taft-Hartley off the books. These 15 Democrats—13 of them from the South—joined with 35 Republicans who will be members of the new Senate, in voting last June to override the Truman veto of the labor law.

There is a possibility that the President may suggest reenactment of the original Wagner Labor Act with some modifications of the present law. This might prove easier politically than to get legislators to vote for outright repeal of a measure they thought so highly of a few months ago they helped enact it over the President's veto.

A Filibuster Threat.

One thing on which Dixie legislators haven't changed their minds is civil rights. The Republicans, who lost control of Congress in the election, had promised to limit Senate debate in order to try to enact anti-discrimination, anti-lynching, anti-poll tax laws.

If the Truman administration tries that, it will run into a filibuster, promised Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) who has been active in such oratory in the past.

One of the first reports scheduled for the new Congress will be that of the Hoover Commission on Government Reorganization. This non-partisan body will suggest that between 70 and 80 government bureaus report to cabinet officials rather than directly to the overburdened President.

At Home

Global Blisters.

A new theory that atomic energy is changing the earth's surface has been presented to the Geological Society of America.

The earth is actually growing under your feet. The atomic energy is in the form of radioactivity. Working at depths of 50 to 100 miles, this radioactivity melts rock formations thousands of miles wide. These bubble upward slowly like thick fudge over a slow fire. This process makes and unmake continents, ocean beds and mountain ranges.

These changes are slow. No geologist sees the slightest danger that this buried atomic energy can blow up the earth, or any part of it.

* * *

Record Enrollment.

The federal Office of Education says there are 2,410,000 students in American colleges this year, 72,000 more than ever before.

But there are only 1,022,000 war-veteran students, a drop of 100,000 from a year ago.

Apparently enrollments at the nations 1,800 colleges and universities have reached a "plateau" even though they are at an alltime high for the third successive year.

The over-all increase this year is only three per cent, compared with a 12½ per cent increase last year, the office says. The total is still 50 per cent above prewar levels, however.

The nine per cent slump in veteran enrollments has been felt most sharply in junior colleges, where total enrollments fell five per cent, to 208,000, of which 54,000 are veterans.

* * *

Supersonic Efficiency.

Supersonic planes can be made to operate with about the same fuel economy as present forms of transportation, an aerodynamics expert told the National Academy of Sciences at Berkeley, Calif.

He is Robert T. Jones, researcher for the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics.

With swept-back wings to minimize air resistance at supersonic speeds and with designs permitting operation at 60,000-foot altitudes, there should be no excessive waste of fuel, Jones said.

Designs for planes intended for flight in such rarefied atmosphere tend to make them capable of flying slowly in denser, low altitudes for landing, he said.

* * *

"Just In Case" Plans.

The dusk-to-dawn dimout which blanketed coastal cities during the last war probably won't be back in any future war.

The Office of Civil Defense, a branch of the national military establishment under Defense Secretary Forrestal, has made a comprehensive report on steps to be taken if a new war should come. The dimout is not one of them.

The report amounts to a primer for the public on what to do if hit by the weapons of modern war.

The planning board estimates that in wartime as many as 15 million Americans might be engaged in civil defense.

Abroad

"Cold War" In France.

France, traditionally a land of many political parties, appears heading toward a showdown between just two: the extreme right and the extreme left.

Frenchmen refer to the clash between Gen. Charles de Gaulle and the communists as "our own little cold war." It is a wry French joke, told without a smile.

De Gaulle won a big election victory recently when his Rally of the French People (RPF) gained 40 per cent of the seats in the upper house of the French parliament—the Council of the Republic.

The general stepped down as provisional president of France in January, 1946, disgusted at the bickering of splinter parties. He said then, "I have had enough."

Some observers think that if de Gaulle does get back in power, communists may use the arms they are believed to have cached to stage a "counter revolution."

Chinese Crossroads.

The situation in Nanking is acute. Chiang alone is reported holding the government together by his fierce insistence on continuing the fight despite repeated military and economic disasters.

Chiang reportedly has the support of a mere handful of "bitter enders." The majority of his political advisors, cabinet members and Kuomintang leaders are said to believe the time has come to open peace negotiations.

Tortured China is full of startling stories and rumors. Some merchants refuse to accept big currency bills bearing Chiang's portrait because they fear the Communists will not honor them when they take over.

Many urban Chinese say the present war crisis will end with a communist-donimated coalition government. They believe the Reds will retain as much present government help as they need to run the cities and the nation.

Britain Rejoices.

You don't have to be a Briton to understand some of the jubilation over the birth of a prince who someday may rule what is still the world's largest empire.

The son born to Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip is a distant cousin to all the crowned heads of continental Europe. Through his father, he will bring to the British throne for the first time since the death of King Hardicanute in 1040 a direct male descendant from the Danish race which is credited with a half share in the ancestry of the English.

Quotes

James P. Warberg, New York banker and economist: "The Marshall Plan has been diverted from its original concept and purpose and turned into an instrument of the cold war."

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.): "There has been a lot of confusion about housing. . . . First we must do something for the persons who have never had a decent house in which to live. These people should be helped to acquire homes on a pay-as-you-go basis."

In Short

Produced: By a magnetic cooler, at Ohio State university, the lowest temperature ever recorded in America, nearly 459 degrees below zero Fahrenheit.

Declared: By President Truman, the U. S. will not enter any four-power negotiation on any phase of the German question, while Russia maintains a blockade of Berlin.

Asserted: By Israeli foreign minister Moshe Shertok to the United Nations, that his country will not yield the Negev desert area in southern Palestine to Arabs but will fight to hold it.

Timely Editorial

Wrong Target.

A radio comedian has been forced to stop having members of the band on his program kid with him and crack jokes. Reason—the American Federation of Radio Artists objects. Says it makes them artists instead of just musicians and, as such, rating higher pay.

Looks to us as if the AFRA is shooting at the wrong target. If they wish really to get in solid with the radio public, all they have to do is clamp the ban on some of the alleged comedians whose feeble sallies clutter up the airways. Little as we sympathize with jurisdictional disputes, we could go for that one.—Columbus Dispatch.

'And the Spirit Moved'

By ELSIE ROBINSON

IT HAD been a bad night. We thought toward morning that she'd gone.

And I stood on the little balcony high above San Francisco with the darkness going down and down beneath me into a hopeless pit. And it came to me how endless the loneliness would be if she went.

But just as the beach curved from ebony to pearl in the dawn's changing magic, the wonder came.

A lifting . . . a lightening . . .

And I thought of the words I have always loved — the words that have stirred so many of us.

In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth.

And the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep. And the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters.

And God said, Let there be light: and there was light.

Dawn. And a faint cry in the room behind me, a cry that meant joy and gratitude beyond all words. For she would live.

And I thought how night after night that great drama is repeated in the hearts of men and women. How often and how often we see the bottomless pit of despair—and then—

Just as the dawn light fringes the sea with pearl, so the sign comes and life floods back again and God moves on the face of the waters.

The waters are very dark these days and we've never needed His dawn light more than we do now. Often we wonder if there will ever be a dawn again—if anything can ever clear this cruelty and confusion, this hate nad horror.

And standing there at the rim of the pit our souls give up. We have no hope. This is the end.

But we are wrong, for this is not the end. Always there will be a pit as black as that before today came. Always there will be a time of utter hopelessness and fear such as we are going through today. But always, when our hearts are heaviest and the pit is blackest, the change will come. And God will move on the face of the waters. And there will be light.

Taking Time To Dream

By CALVIN A. BYERS

ON a blustery stormy evening, when rain squalls beat against the metal roof of our Honey Creek cottage, and the wind whistles wolfishly around the corners, there is considerable satisfaction in sitting down with a new nursery catalog.

I like to put a few sticks of wood in the firebox of the range, stoke the furnace, then settle down to dream for an hour of spring planting time. Strawberry plants in clean long rows, waxy green and thrifty; a hotbed of early garden plants; replacements for the young fruit trees the locusts got last year—each of these holds me busily engrossed for some little time.

It's too early, I know. Christmas is still five weeks off. But there can be no harm in planning, and the earlier the plan, the more times it can be re-enjoyed before it must be acted upon.

Boys are working, too. Quietly, for once. Upstairs one is reciting to his brother some verses that he must learn and speak at a school program. One has his arithmetic and is belaboring his mother with questions about percentage. Another sits absorbed in the mysteries of the slide rule.

The dog lies stretched frog fashion by the wall. The housecat shakes a hind leg, climbs to the high part of the cushions and washes herself.

I am watching the moonvine. The big bud is about to open. They bloom only after night, like this. All at once it begins to spread. You can actually see it move, slowly, the deep throated waxy blossom widening as you look on. Sometimes two or three bloom at once.

The whole lattice that covers the side of the cottage is massed with flowers. There's a hummingbird moth! How it wavers and flits back and forth in the dusk! The wind seems to be rising. These Florida hurricanes are apt to be dangerous, they say. . . .

"Wake up, Dad," remarks a boyish voice. "Wake up and start over. Better go to bed!"

With sheepish sleepy looks, I pick up my new catalog from the floor. The moonvine — it blossomed on our honeymoon house years ago. I have seen it happen just once that a bud unfolded before me, like a miracle to be repeated only in a dream.

The Fleecers Get Fleeced as N.Y. Writers Lampoon Financial Heads

NEW YORK—(AP)—Once a year the bulls and the bears of Wall Street take a night off from fleecing the lambs and undergo a fleecing themselves.

They are baked, boiled, barbecued and broiled at the annual "Financial Follies" show staged by the New York Financial Writers' association. The production lampoons the nation's business executives in the manner that Washington's famed "Gridiron Club" show puts the political leaders under the guillotine of laughter.

And it proves, if nothing else, that the men with heavy pockets have a sense of humor. The show has grown more popular each year. Top-ranking bankers and corporation executives such as A. P. Giannini, chairman of the Bank of America, charter special planes or trains to travel across the continent to laugh at parodies of their activities. And they pay $20 for the privilege.

The theme of last night's show was a year of inflation—"inflation in many and varied directio'ns, from Chinese currency to the fame and stature of Harry S. Truman."

The scribes defined inflation as "the thirteenth rung on a twelve-rung ladder" and as something that "shouldn't happen to a Chinaman, but did." In a masterpiece of seating they placed stock exchange President Emil Schram next to John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers.

The skits poked fun at the stock issue dispute between Henry Kaiser and Cyrus Eaton, the 9 percent annual dividend of the American Telephone and Telegraph company ("you can always tell a phoney"), and Harry Truman's electoral victory.

Two men in patched elegance, representing the last two republicans left in the land, sang a duet:

"It's Been a Long, Long time."

Another showed President Truman, catalogued as "a man of extinction," seated in a portrait frame. The president came to life, and suddenly thumbed his nose in a wide sweep to the entire audience.

Later he came out and sold "Dewey neckties" to the spectators, singing to the strains of "Missouri Waltz."

"Back in old Missouri I was hoping soon to be,
Playing my piano, selling haberdashery;
My neckties I'd peddle,
No more would I meddle
With political stuff,
For the going's too tough.
Back to Independence I was hankering to go,
But the silly voters just rose up and shouted 'no';
So I'm holding the bag for the F. D. R. jag.
Poo-o-oo-r Har-r-r-r-y."

But the musical number that appealed especially to both the brokers and the writers, most of whom dwell in the suburbs, was a skit ribbing the Long Island railroad. It was entitled. "Don't Spit on the Rail, Paw, the Long Island Will Be Late Again."

The ticker tape addicts also liked a blackout showing a strange, long-haired man who walked across the Hotel Astor ballroom stage. At each of three microphones he paused, yelling lounder each time, "Yes Yes! Yes!" Asked to identify himself, he said:

"I'm a Russian diplomat on vacation."

That gave Wall Street, which has been singing the blues, a real belly laugh.

Hollywood, Hit For Insincerity, Now Gets Rapped For Its Realism

YOU CAN'T WIN: Hollywood has always been paddled for ignoring reality. Now some movie reviewers quibble that "The Snake Pit" is too realistic! . . . Oddest initial moniker belongs to an actress in "Edward, My Son." Leueen Macgrath . . . No wonder usherettes in legit show places are so purty. Most of 'em are stage struck—and use their salaries to pay for drama lessons.

Don't believe those fables about Hollywood producers being nincompoops. Most are hep gents — and one producer is a Phi Beta Kappa man . . . Union Sq. soapboxers have a new target: Pollsters.

The only place the world still looks nice and peaceful is in the travelogues. Their camera lens must be rose tinted

The ditty, "Bluebird of Happiness," has a nice swing to its melody, but the lyrics wear corn tassels. Sound like a speech from "East Lynne."

There's an exciting performance by Juano Hernandez in the drama, "Set My People Free." It's the type of robust make-believing that takes up the slack in a sagging script...Those who smirk about Hooperatings should be reminded of the million$ CBS has shelled out to get a Hooper-topper on their network...Montgomery Clift the femmes' new heart-hurrier, has the down-to-earth pretending gift that made Hank Fonda successful.

Another interesting revelation in Joe Louis' biog: After he punched his way into the big-time, Joe paid back to Uncle Sam the money his family once accepted when they were onrelief.

The Technicolor in "Three Musketeers" would make a rainbow envious...There's gold in them thar laughs: Seventeen of B'way's twenty-two current shows are either musicals or straight comedies. Every chuckle is a diamond.

'Lost Train' Passenger Tells Story

Credits God And Santa Fe

GARDEN CITY, Kas.—(AP)—"I owe my life to divine guidance and the Santa Fe railway," the Rev. R. W. O. Knowles, minister of the First Methodist church, said today, relating the story of the Santa Fe's "lost train."

Knowles was one of the 150 passengers on the Santa Fe's California Limited who spent nearly all day Friday in a snow drift about 12 miles west of Dodge City.

Knowles left Hutchinson at noon Thursday in the midst of an evangelical conference to try to beat the storm to Garden City. His car bogged down with ice covering the motor between Spearville and Wright, two small towns along the Santa Fe line.

After helping an old couple in a nearby stalled car get a ride on through, Knowles got together with two other men who tried to make it into Wright. When their car slid into a ditch, the men decided to make a night of it in the car.

"Just as the wind was getting strongest, we heard some fellows yelling," Knowles said. "We could see that the Santa Fe train had stopped. A bunch of GI's in heavy winter airborne clothing came out and helped us to the train."

Knowles said the Santa Fe trainmen had been given orders to check all stalled cars and give what help they could to occupants.

The train got into Dodge City before midnight. About 10 a. m. Friday Knowles and about 150 lost - in - the - storm passengers boarded the limited to try to go west again.

Less than one hour and 12 miles after the train left Dodge, the diesel became bogged down in the snow.

Knowles reported: "A porter who had been on the Santa Fe for a long time, listened a minute, shook his head, and said, "We is here, boys."

And they were there until sundown Friday.

As Knowles is explaining it today, "Dodge City didn't know we hadn't arrived in Garden City and Garden City didn't know we'd left Dodge."

All communications between the two cities were down. After crewmen left the train to get word to Dodge City, a steam engine was sent out to pull the train back to Dodge City.

The raises are retroactive to Oct. 31. The monthly payroll boost exceeds $13,000.

The increases, benefiting workers in maintenance and supply activities in the local warehouse, resulted from a recent wage survey of the surrounding industrial area.

The wage hike averages 16 cents per hour and ranges from 11 to 21 cents an hour.

Farmers to Pick Soil Supervisors

An election of five supervisors to handle the program of the Richland county soil conservation district will be held Dec. 18.

The date was set last night at a meeting of the soil conservation steering committee. County Agent C. N. McGrew, who presided at the meeting, said the election will be held from 1 to 7 p. m. on that date.

A few persons were nominated last night and others will be nominated next week. The nominees must then get 25 signatures on their petitions in order to get their names on the ballot. Any landowner in the county who has three or more acres may make a nomination.

Petitions for nominees will be available in his office, McGrew said. At the election, voters will ballot on their choice of five men for the positions of supervisors. The five receiving the highest number of votes will be declared elected.

The results are then sent to the State Soil Conservation committee. Within 30 days from the election that committee issues a decree incorporating Richland county into a soil conservation district.

The decree is filed with the secretary of state. A copy is sent to the Department of Agriculture.

That department will send a farm planner here to help the supervisors with their soil conservation program.

Landowners of Richland county last Oct. 22, voted 481 to 23 to make the county a soil conservation district.

Land Owner File Actions

Three actions seeking a total of $5,571 were filed yesterday in common pleas court against the Ohio Fuel Gas company.

In each case, the plaintiffs contend the gas company had easements for pipelines across their properties, but in planning to put in another pipeline, company workers cut timber and used more land than was needed for the two existing lines.

The plaintiffs, in each instance, say they threatened legal action, but verbal agreements were reached for payment for putting in the new line at $3 per lineal rod and for damages to property.

The plaintiffs in one of the actions, Herman H. and Fleeta C. Wolf, of Franklin township, ask a $1,360 judgment.

In another action, George L. and Katie H. Noecker, of Plymouth, ask $2,600 damages, while in the third suit, Fred L. Bricker, of Shelby, R. D. 1, seeks $1,611 damages.

IT'S NOT PLAY—

The Daniels-West killing spree is still a topic of conversation in Van Wert where West was killed and Daniels captured at a roadblock near the town. However, a humorous angle has been added to the story. A Van Wert woman in a bus conversation, told how Police Sgt. Leonard D. Conn, who was wounded critically in stopping the killers at the roadblock, is taking a ribbing from his friends. One of Conn's lungs was collapsed while he was in the hospital recovering from his wounds. Conn's doctor told him to blow up penny balloons to develop use of the lung. So Conn is back on duty, blowing up balloons in his spare time.

HEAR ACTOR'S WIFE—

Mansfield and Richland county Welfare workers came back from Columbus this week enthusiastic about a talk by Mrs. Spencer Tracy, wife of the actor, on the work she and others have accomplished for deaf children all over the world. She told of the John Tracy clinic which she was instrumental in establishing in Los Angeles. When the Tracys discovered that their son, John, was deaf, Mrs. Tracy began immediately an attempt to help all other children and their parents to deal correctly with deaf children. As a result of the clinic, where parents come to learn, 1,700 deaf children all over the world have been benefited, Mrs. Tracy told welfare workers. "She talked for an hour and 20 minutes," Miss Esther Barnett, home service director of the Red Cross, said, "and no one left the room. She was interesting and dynamic. Her talk Tuesday night was the highlight of the conference."

Fund Bid Sidetracked

Ohio cities are going to have to wait until next year before they can push their request for a greater portion of state sales tax receipts.

Gov. Thomas J. Herbert yesterday ruled out a request by the Ohio Association of Municipalities that the question be put before a special assembly if he decides to call such a session.

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn, a member of the executive council of the OAM, reported today that the Dec. 6 general meeting of the group had been called off. He said the executive committee would meet in Columbus Dec. 29 and 30 to draw up the agenda for the general meeting to be held in January.

The OAM plans to make requests for a bigger portion of sales tax money to Governor-elect Frank J. Lausche and the Democratic controlled state legislature.

The cities have asked for an additional $6,500,000.

Revenue Totals $516,421

Personal Levy Payments In

A 99.4 per cent collection of second-half personal property taxes was reported today by County Treasurer Charles C. Payne.

Payne said $516,421 was paid in personal property taxes. The tax charge was $519,309, leaving $2,887 unpaid.

The collection totaled $463,421 in general personal property taxes out of a charge of $465,704, while for classified personal property taxes the collection totaled $53,000 on a charge of $53,604.

Mansfield residents and firms paid $397,219 in both types of personal property taxes. The charge was $399,349.

The general personal property tax money is distributed in the same way as real estate property taxes, the money going to the various political subdivisions.

Collections are determined by the amount of money collected in the subdivisions, according to their tax rates. The county, cities, villages, school districts, and townships benefit.

The classified personal property tax funds go to the cities, villages, the county and the libraries.

Youth Hurt In Mishap

Jack Dearman, 19, of 169 Chilton avenue, suffered a cut lip and a cut on his knee in an accident on Longview avenue, 200 feet west of the Erie railroad, at 11:15 p. m., yesterday.

The crane belonged to the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company. Police said there were no lights on the crane at the time of the accident.

Dearman was taken to General hospital where he was treated and released.

Little Theater Group Starts Planning Next Production

Little Theater officials will discuss sets for the next play, "A Murder Has Been Arranged," at a meeting Sunday night at the home of Sheldon Clark.

Meeting with Clark, stage manager for the Little Theater performances, will be W. G. Schultz, board president, and Earl Heasley, director. Negotiations have been started by board members for a location in which to build the sets, Heasley said today.

Try-outs for the second play of the season, to be given Feb. 23 and 24, will be held prior to the Christmas holidays, Heasley told board members at their meeting Thursday night, and rehearsals will begin immediately after Christmas.

Following a discussion on reports on "Room Service" the first play this season at the meeting, it was decided to continue student night, since board members felt that it had been a definite success. At least 900 teen-agers were present for the first presentation. Tickets for students will continue at the original price of 35 cents.

Heasley reported that 40 persons have participated in the two plays presented so far by Little Theater members.

George Connor was named as membership committee chairman.

Democrat Leaders See No Depression Coming

'Man-Made' Recession Only Fear

Rayburn Voices Truman Belief

KEY WEST, Fla.—(AP)—Leaders of the Truman administration saw no reason today why the nation should fear another depression.

That was the gist of what house speaker-to-be Sam Rayburn told reporters after a visit with President Truman at his Florida vacation retreat.

It also was the theme of a statement that Vice President-Elect Alben W. Barkley made to reporters in Washington just a few days after the Democratic election victory.

Rayburn said that if a depressions comes it will be "man-made" and not the result of administration policy.

A "man-made" depression, he said, would be the fault of "men who would scare the country into it."

Rayburn's remark was prompted by a reporter's statement that "a lot of people, including some in Wall street, are upset about the outcome of the election and whether you (the Truman administration) will lead us in the right direction."

"There are some people in the United States who seem to enjoy being scared," Rayburn replied.

"But with the buying power of this country at its highest and the people able to buy everything manufactured or grown, at a reasonable profit to the manufacturer or grower, I don't see anything that anyone has got to be scared about.

"Nobody can say the country is not prosperous and in a healthy condition. If a major recession or depression should come, which I do not expect, it will not be justified by our economic situation but will be man-made."

There was no doubt that Rayburn, a close friend of the President, was reflecting the attitude of the chief executive.

Rayburn also predicted that Mr. Truman will get more cooperation from the new 81st congress than he did from the 79th, the last controlled by the Democrats. He said he thought there was now greater comradeship within the Democratic party.

About 6 p m Mrs Harvey Hall of the same community, was driving her cow along the road a mile and a half south of Pinhook. Just as he passed the cow, Arehart said, the animal jumped out of the ditch and into the path of his car.

Age-Old Use of Metals Against Cancer Revived

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Since the days of the Caesars men have used metals to try to cure cancer. Now researchers at the Georgetown university medical center have modernized ancient methods and claim "promising" results against cancer and cancer-like conditions.

The researchers emphasize that the new method is not a "cure" for these conditions and that it is used only in selected cases.

They declare that among more than 100 cases treated it has

1 Prolonged the lives of some patients anywhere from several months to two years

2 Definitely relieved pain in most cases.

3 Halted progress of the condition temporarily in some instances and reduced the size of the malignant growth in some others.

Details of the work were made known by the Rev. Paul A McNally, S. J., regent of the medical school, who brought a team of scientists together to undertake the research

Father McNally said: "Our group of scientists feels that we've just about opened the door and have hardly advanced beyond the threshold"

Oil is the secret of the new method—familiar, everyday oils like olive or corn oil.

DISSOLVED IN OIL

The Georgetown scientists have devised a technique for dissolving metals in oil and administering them in that form This apparently was missed by the physicians of the Roman empire and their successors. They applied certain metals to skin cancers in lotions or gave them in water solution for the treatment of internal cancer

The Washington investigators have used the "heavy" metals nickel and copper. The "light" metal calcium—also dissolved in oil—has proved a valuable auxiliary aid.

Best results have been achieved so far against Hodgkin's disease, a cancer-like condition of the lymph glands, and against chronic leukemia, a cancer-like condition of the blood

"Fair" results have been noted in cancers of the breast and kidney and in gastro-intestinal, ovary and testicle cancer. Poorest results have been listed in cancer of the mouth and cervix (entrance of the womb.).

The method is described as frequently giving as good temporary effects as are achieved with X-ray, nitrogen mustard and hormone treatments for conditions which can not be attacked by surgery. Preliminary evidence is that the new method has certain advantages over some of these other treatments from the standpoint of controlling dosages.

The doctors say they're also investigating the possible use of some of these "oil-soluble metals" against arthritis, high blood pressure and menstrual pain.

They say still another possibility warrants further investigation. This is the possible use of radioactive forms of the metals with an oil-vehicle designed to carry them to specific parts of the body. Cancer-attacking rays from the radioactive metals would enhance the effects of the metals themselves.

Almost every metal from lead to tellurium—has had its vogue against cancer. At times some have shown evidence of temporarily halting the progress of cancer or even reducing its size.

The theory is that the heavy metals shut off the blood supply to a tumor, just like X-ray and radium do, thus blocking off its nourishment.

Some light metals such as calcium are believed to have a checking effect on cancer cell growth.

Board Hears Gas Request

WASHINGTON— (AP) —Expansion plans of Texas Gas and Texas Eastern Transmission corporations and requests by National Gas and Oil corporation, Newark, Ohio, for more natural gas service, will get a hearing before the power commission Monday.

The commission yesterday consolidated National's application with the other two cases.

Authority to increase delivery capacity of its lines from the Middletown, O., area to Windridge, Pa., is asked by Texas Eastern, operators of the Big Inch lines.

Texas Gas is seeking permission to build a Texas-to-Middletown pipeline.

Tygers Lose Season's Finale to Ferry, 6 to 0

Senior High Drive Ends On 4 At Gun

By CHARLEY STINE

MARTINS FERRY—Mansfield's hopes for another "big victory" and high state ranking were buried on the four-yard line at the high school field here last night.

Every conceivable break went against Senior high as it brought down the curtain on its football season with a 6-0 loss to the Ferrians.

A bus breakdown got them here late, a mud-soaked field cut into their speed, penalties came at inopportune times, and finally their one sustained drive was stopped four steps from paydirt by the final gun.

The Tygers and Purple Riders battled on even terms for the larger part of the game with slippery turf playing a large part in the defense. Both clubs made only one definite scoring threat.

The loss was Senior high's third against seven victories. Martins Ferry completed its season with nine victories and a scoreless tie.

SCORE IN THIRD

Martins Ferry's power-packed single wing broke through for its score halfway through the third period, with tailback Jim Bruney going off left tackle from the Mansfield 11-yard line to score. The march to pay dirt, all on the ground, had started 64 yards back on the Mansfield 36 where Joe Letizia had punted dead.

The estimated 3,000 Tyger fans who made the trip had their only chance to cheer during the final two minutes. Things looked completely hopeless until Capt. Joe Miller broke loose down the left sideline on a pitch-out for 39 yards to the Ferry 42. Little Tommy Tucker duplicated the play around the other end for 27 more to the 17. His was the prettiest run of the game and set the Tygers in good stead with about a minute and a half to go.

Miller banged center for no gain, A. C. Jenkins ran left end for six yards, then Tucker again circled right end for his second straight first down on the six-yard stripe.

PENALTY HURTS

Tucker hit center for a yard on the next play but a backfield-in-motion penalty stepped in to spell the difference between victory and defeat.

The ball went back to the 11-yard line from where Ferguson passed incomplete. Jenkins brought the ball to the five with a left end run as the clock ran to the ten second mark.

With the ball on the left side of the field, indications pointed to a Tucker specialty around the right wing, but Jenkins cracked center and got only one yard as the gun barked.

At several stages in the game, penalties played a big part in stopping Mansfield drives. Shortly after the beginning of the fourth quarter, Lou Gregorio broke loose on a reverse from his own 30 to the Riders 40, but backfield-in-motion set the Tygers back five yards and annulled the play.

A few seconds later in the same series of plays, Gregorio broke loose for 12 yards and only one man stood between him and a touchdown. Under ordinary ground conditions, the little Mansfield speedster would have likely gotten away, but the heavy footing prevented his sidestepping and he was nailed.

LINE STOPS TRAP

Two pile-driving backs, Fullback Bob Joseph and Tailback Fred Bruney, had a large bit to do with killing the Tygers hopes. A big and mobile line did the rest as it failed to yield to the Mansfield forward wall. The patented trap play which has produced many a touchdown for the Tygers was no good against the classy Rider defense.

The game started off as a wide-open affair with offenses of both clubs hot but they cooled down when they hit scoring territory.

Martins Ferry brought the 8,000 onlookers to their feet by racking up three first downs in marching the kickoff down to the 11-yard line but here Mansfield held for downs, and then started an offensive of its own.

The Bengals were penalized to the two, then marched all the way to the Ferry 38 where they missed a first down by two feet.

KIDS AT RALLY—Senior high school students give the Tyger football team a sendoff yesterday before its trip to Martins Ferry. It was one of many pep rallies staged for the Bengals who lost only 6-0 to the undefeated Ferrians last night.

Ontario Opens With Victory Over Leesville

ONTARIO—After a slow start, the 1948-49 edition of Coach Dick Casad's Ontario basketball machine rolled over Leesville, 49 to 37, in the seasonal opener last night.

Myers uncanny long shot connections enabled Leesville to move into a 10-to-2 lead in the first quarter. The Warriors cut the margin to two points at the quarter and swept ahead at the half, 23 to 20. Howard Sunnucks and Rich Hunt were the big shots in Ontario's surge.

Ontario piled up its big margin by sinking 17 free throws. Sunnucks was the leading scorer with 18 markers while Myers of the visitors had 15.

Charles Hammer played a fine defensive contest for Ontario.

The Warriors won the reserve game, 22 to 16.

Redskins Play Eagle Club In Pro Headliner

First place in the eastern division of the National football league will be at stake tomorrow when Washington plays the pace-setting Philadelphia Eagles in Shibe park before a capacity crowd.

In other games in the league the Bears will travel to Boston to meet the Yanks in Fenway park; Los Angeles has an engagement with the Cardinals in Comiskey park; the Giants move west to meet Green Bay in the fairgrounds in Milwaukee and the Pittsburgh Steelers invade Detroit, where the Lions will be the mosts in Briggs stadium.

Washington, which has dogged the footsteps of Philadelphia for the past four weeks, is only a half game back of the defending eastern champions. The Redskins, with Sammy Baugh enjoying another great season, have won their last four starts and should they succeed in winning tomorrow, would move into the lead.

Philadelphia, with six straight victories — it has lost only to the Cardinals in the opening game of the season — has played brilliant football all season. The Eagles have three top performers in Steve Van Buren, ground gaining; Tommy Thompson, passing, and Joe Muha, punting. All are league leaders in their classifications.

Lippy Is Back On the Carpet

CINCINNATI—(UP)—Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler will question Manager Leo Durocher of the New York Giants and Coach Freddie Fitzsimmons next month to determine whether Fitzsimmons was "stolen" from the Boston Braves.

Walter Mulbry, assistant to the commissioner, disclosed yesterday that Durocher and Fitzsimmons, who recently was named coach of the Giants, will appear before Chandler in Chicago, between Dec. 13 and 15, to answer charges that the New York club had violated baseball's "tampering" rule.

Kulbry said Fitzsimmons "had been reserved as a coach by the Boston Braves and did not obtain his release from Boston before signing with the Giants."

Bettina Notches 7th Straight Win

NEW YORK (UP) —Melio Bettina of Beacon, N. Y., who once held the world light heavyweight crown, boasted seven straight victories today in his comeback quest as a heavyweight, but his latest triumph was hardly one that would make Joe Louis quake.

Southpaw Bettina won an unimpressive decision from six-foot, two-inch Enrique Felpi of Argentina last night before 2,247 fans at St. Nicholas Arena in a dull bout.

Wilson Mails Bowl Ballots

CHICAGO — (AP) — The big nine may turn up this weekend with its toughest contest of the football season—the poll to determine the conference representative in the Rose Bowl.

Commissioner K. L. (Tug) Wilson yesterday mailed directives to faculty representatives at each school, reminding them to make their bowl picks after Saturday's final round of games and wire them pronto to his office.

Further complicating the poll is the fact that the faculty representatives are not bound by percentages or ratings in their bowl selections in which they must list their first, second and third choices.

from the tyger lair

By EL TIGRE

Mansfielders who stayed at home and received word of the game by telephone need not be down-hearted at the score. . . . Our boys met a fine team, and considering conditions, gave a splendid account of themselves. They had the Martins Ferry fans oohing and aahing at several of their fancy pitchouts and at the determined way they tackled. . . . The Tyger band, which gave its airplane exhibition and several other specialties, also came in for its share of praise.

★

How all fans got word of the game we don't know, but 3,324 by actual count, received the score by a call to the News-Journal. . . Hundreds more couldn't get through because of line-tieups, the writer, phoning from Martins Ferry with the score the calls sought, was held up over half an hour by busy lines. From four to six operators worked continuously on the calls from 8 to 11:30 p. m.

★

The Tyger team stopped off at Cadiz for a rest and "stretcher" yesterday, and when they started on, the bus refused to make the trip. . . . Hence they were late getting to the field and the game was held up half an hour while they warmed up. . . . The Mansfield and Martins Ferry bands joined for the Star Spangled Banner with J. Merton Holcombe wielding the wand. . . . Both bands wore rain jackets. The mist stopped shortly, however, and the game was played in fine weather except the sea of mud underfoot.

★

Coach Fred Thomas of Martins Ferry didn't have to use his new car after all. Thomas was presented with a shiny black auto before the game from the Martins Ferry fans, prompting one press box quarterback to remark, "If he loses he can get away in it."

Thomas also received a wrist watch, refrigerator, radio, suit of clothes, pair of shoes, and 20 roses for his wife, one for each year of coaching.

Yankees Meet Browns Again

In the All-America conference, the New York Yankees again will try to register their first win over the champion Cleveland Browns tomorrow in New York. Last year, the Yankees did manage to hold the Browns to a 28-28 tie in a wild game.

Spec Sanders, former backfield star of the Yankees who has been warming the bench, will be used extensively along with the team's new ace, Pistol Pete Layden.

Baltimore is a one-touchdown favorite over Los Angeles. San Francisco is a tophcavy choice over Brooklyn, and Buffalo almost as much so over the Chicago Rockets.

Herb Brown and Snuffy Smith with 15 and 14 points were the high scorers for Perrysville.

In the reserve contest, Lakeville also triumphed, 25-21.

Michigan 11 Seeks 2nd Straight Crown

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Michigan's wily Wolverines, riding the crest of a 22-game winning wave, go after their second straight Western conference title—and perhaps the national crown—as they clash today with Ohio State's resurgent Bucks before some 81,000 fans.

The 1948 Rose Bowl champs, with eight victories tucked away this year, went into the season's finale as 14-point favorites despite Ohio Coach Wesley Fesler's statement that:

"We're as ready as we can be. If we get whipped we'll have no excuses and no alibi."

BUCKS ARE HOT

The Bucks are as hot as a Turkish bath after romping over Illinois 34-7 last week, the Wolves having a tough time pulling out a 28-20 win over the Illini. Ohio, after winning only two of nine a year ago, has won six of eight this season—the second under Fesler.

The game, rated the day's No. 1 grid attraction, has Ohio's capital agog. Scores of visitors, unable to get hotel rooms, spent last night in their automobiles, in railroad stations and hotel lobbies. Bars were crowded until the wee small closing hours and all-night restaurants did lots of business.

The Bucks have a hefty weight edge in both the line and ball-toting departments, but Michigan's finesse and know-how are expected to keep the Wolves on the victory trail.

CAN'T HOLD 'EM

In their long 22-game winning streak the Wolves have piled up 795 points to the opposition's 113, and only four times has Michigan been held to two touchdowns.

For the year, the Michigans have scored 239 to 41 for the eight opponents, while Ohio has scored 181 to 81 over the same stretch.

Michigan brings a 38-man squad for the big scrap, and nine of them, including three starters, Center Bob Erben and Guards Stuart Wilkins and Ralph Kohl, are Ohio boys. Nine states are represented on the Michigan roster.

Ohio State, with 1,948 yards, has a big edge in rushing. The Wolves have gained 1,204 on the ground. Through the air, however, the potent passing attack of the invaders has covered 1,239 yards to 754 for Ohio.

Shelby Semi-Pro Football Squad To Battle Marion

SHELBY — The Shelby Blues will battle the Marion Angels at the high school stadium here Thanksgiving day at 3 p. m.

In an effort to break even financially for the season the Blues have scheduled this return game with the Angels. The two teams battled to a bruising 14-to-14 tie here earlier this season.

Although its season was officially over, the Marion team held a meeting and voted to return to Shelby to prove that the Angels have a better team. However, this may be a difficult task considering the improved play of the Blues since their first meeting with the Angels.

The Blues will hold a concentrated practice Sunday afternoon at 3, and Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week at 6:30 p. m. at the waterworks field.

Among festivities for the half-time will be a homecoming of the Shelby Blues of three and four decades ago.

Ohio Colleges Battle to Tie

(By International News Service)

For approximately two hours, players of both schools waded through ankle deep mud and braved wet skies—and all either side can claim for its efforts is a 33-33 tie.

The penguins pulled from 20 behind to knot the score with just a minute and 30 seconds remaining in the contest, the season finale for both schools.

B-W had three touchdowns before Youngstown was able to score, and led 26-7 at the half. Al Campana scored twice for the penguins, while Tommy Phillips of B-W led the jackets attack, firing 19 passes for 170 yards, despite the rain.

Lexington 5 Takes Second Win of Year

LEXINGTON — The Lexington Minutemen smashed Tiro high school in a basketball game here last night, 44 to 20. It was the second victory in three games for Coach Don Sutter's quintet.

With Duane Wirick hitting the nets for 13 points, the Minutemen put on a stout defense after the first quarter to win handily. The score was tied at nine apiece at the quarter but Lexington led at the other intermission points, 20 to 11 and 34 to 14.

Sutter used ten men with nine of them scoring. Dick Cline had 11 counters.

The Lexington lads won the reserve game, 44 to 11, as Paul Fisher and Fred Ford accounted for half of the points.

Edison high school's first five scouted the Minutemen last night. Lexington plays Edison here next Tuesday at 7:30 p. m.

Whippet Grid Fans, Players Enjoy Banquet

By JOHN PATRICK

SHELBY — Approximately 200 Shelby Whippet fans had an enjoyable evening last night at the annual recognition football banquet held at the Richland Recreation Center.

Highlighted by the witty speech of Wally Weber, freshman football coach of Michigan, the program paid recognition not only to the members of the football teams and their coaches but also to those behind the scene members whose hidden works are not seen by the general public. Jerry Dennis and Dick Snider were elected captains for next year.

Dale McKinney, Shelby Junior Chamber of Commerce presented awards to Clyde Bell and Harold Phillips, who had been judged as the most valuable lineman and back for the year.

The varsity and junior varsity and members of the coaching staffs were guests of Ray Oborne of the Bing Furniture store in Shelby.

Two Big Football Contests End Ohio Scholastic Skeds

(By United Press)

Ohio's scholastic football season winds up in a blaze of glory today in two games involving four of the top teams in the state.

At Massillon this afternoon the Massillon Tigers will try to knock off the undefeated and untied juggernaught — Canton McKinley, and down in the southwestern part of the state once-tied Middletown was a slight favorite over once-beaten Hamilton.

Middletown, if victorious, could lay claim to a good share of the mythical state title providing Massillon won over Canton. The Middies only tie came at the hands of a highly-respectable Newark team, champion of the Central Ohio league.

Stark county and surrounding environs approached a fever-pitch in awaiting the Massillon-McKinley game today. Signs and decorations abounded in both towns in preparation for what has become the high school classic of the state.

A parade, headed by the famed Tiger swing band, marched through Massillon last night to the outskirts of the city where a huge bonfire raged. Cheers and songs ended the festivities.

Massillon has but one loss to mar their record, a 14-0 defeat at the hands of Alliance, while McKinley has rolled rough-shod over eight opponents.

Wolverines Place 4 On Big 9 Team

By CHARLES EINSTEIN

CHICAGO — (INS) — Four sterling performers from Michigan—End Dick Rifenburg, Tackle Al Wistert, Guard Dominic Tomasi and Back Pete Elliott—won starting places today on International News Service's All-Western conference football team for 1948.

The team boasts not four but five backs, a situation considered the only fair solution to the dilemma which faced (INS) experts—and the coaches who helped them—throughout Big Nine territory.

Besides Elliott, Northwestern's Art Murakowski, Indiana's George Taliaferro, Ohio State's Joe Whisler and Purdue's Harry Szulborski all were rated outstandingly worthy of first-team recognition.

For that matter, three tackles—Wistert, Phil O'Reilly of Purdue, and Leo Nomellini of Minnesota—won such sound [illegible] throughout the conference here, too, it would be wrong to leave any off the mythical staff. Therefore, Nomellini, conference guard [illegible] placed at guard again this

Bill Veeck, Mack Cannot Come to Terms for Trades

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Bill Veeck, Cleveland Indians' president, was still in town today but he's given up hope of talking Connie Mack out of one of his leading pitchers.

Mack, although in the market for infield and outfield strength for his Athletics, turned down Veeck yesterday when the boss man of the world champion Indians dangled the names of several promising youngsters and veterans in front of him.

"Furthermore," Connie added, "I have money to spend. If Mr Veeck wants to sell me some of his players, I'll do business with him. But not one of my pitchers is for sale or trade."

Veeck mentioned as trading bait such players as Ray Boone, Bobby Wilson, Johnny Berardino, Al Clark, Bob Kennedy and Walter Judnich.

Weekly Charges Game Throwing

RENO, NEV., — (UP) — Officials of the University of Nevada today were studying an article in a national sports weekly charging that the Nevada football team "threw" its game against Santa Clara.

Football coach Joe Sheeketski and Harry Frost, chairman of the Board of Athletic Control, said they were "studying the story very carefully and very thoroughly." They had no comment to make "at this time."

Meanwhile the collegiate newspaper of the school, the Sagebrush, demanded editorially that university officials "Take action" against the sports weekly for the article.

The accusations against the Nevada wolfpack appeared in a nationally-circulated sports newspaper, the Sports-week, in an article signed by a staff wirter, Don Freeburg.

The article said Reno gamblers gave $30,000 as "a direct subsidy to the university and planted their $40,000,000 per annum business squarely behind the ostensibly noble purpose of building a national gridiron power."

Nevada's 14-to-0 loss to Santa Clara on Nov. 7 saddened everyone in Reno, the article alleged, bookies who were on the 'in' and a few dozen assorted Nevada football players who were on their payroll."

By the latter, the story explained, it meant several players — including all-America candidate Stan Heath—who it said drew weekly paychecks from gambling clubs at the present time for working in the casinos.

Anniversary Coming Up for Rev. Hagelbarger

Marks 20 Years At Christian Church

Thanksgiving Day will be of particular significance to members of the First Christian church, not only because it is a national holiday but also because their pastor, Rev. Ben F. Hagelbarger celebrates on that day his 20th year with the congregation.

Observance of Rev. Hagelbarger's score of years in Mansfield will be only a forerunner of a larger celebration to come. On Nov. 28 the church will observe its 115th anniversary and a half century in the present church home.

Coming to Mansfield from Toledo 20 years ago, Rev. Hagelbarger has married during that time 476 couples, conducted 595 memorial services and welcomed into church membership 1,211 persons.

Born in Coshocton county, Rev. Hagelbarger was one of 17 children. He received his education at Hiram college from which he was graduated with an AB degree. He took post-graduate work and got his master's degree at Oberlin Theological seminary, later doing special work in Chicago and Columbia university.

HAVE SON, DAUGHTER

In 1916, Rev. Hagelbarger married Miss Harriet Alice of Hazel Green, Ky. She, too, was graduated from Hiram college. The Hagelbargers have two children. Helen M., who is with General Electric in Cleveland and David W., who is on the faculty of the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Rev. Hagelbarger's first pastorate was at Kent. He followed that pastorate with a second at Tiffin and a third at Toledo. During his ministry, he has served on the national board of the Christian church, has been president of the state board and the state convention and is now a member of the board of managers for the state society.

Recently, Rev. Hagelbarger attended the international convention in San Francisco and there served on one of the pre-convention committees. He has twice been president of the Richland County Ministerial association and active in various civic organizations here.
